REPORTS EIGHT ILLEGAL KILLS

Game Warden Leo Bushman Reports Four Does And Four Bucks.

BIGGEST SEASON EVER

Declares More Hunters And More Legal Kills Than Ever Before. Camps Report Much Game Bagged.

"After my observations of the first two days of hunting season, Friday and Saturday, I think this will be the biggest year for deer both in the numbers of hunters in the field and the numbers of deer shot, that the state has since it emerged from a woodland wilderness," said Game Warden Leo Bushman this morning.

Eight illegal kills have been reported so far, four of them being does, and four spike-bucks with the spikes measuring less than the legal limit of 4 inches beyond the hair at the base of the horn. Of the bucks one was reported found near Reeder's place, near Bendersville. One was found killed near Mt. Carmel Church. Another was picked up in Buchanan Valley, while the fourth was shot at Piney Mountain Inn after injuring itself in an attempt to leap a wire fence.

Monterey Camp reported finding a doe killed near the site of their camp; another was found dead near Benjamin Hassler's place; one was picked up near Mt. Hope School, and another on the Bucher place.

Mr. Bushman has already disposed of all deer illegally shot, sending their carcasses to various institutions. Hoffman Orphanage, Paradise Orphanage at Abbotstown, The Children's Home in York, the Warner Hospital here, and the Alms House, have all experienced the treat of fresh venison.

DAUGHTER FOUND IN CITY

Miss Edith Hamilton Said To Be In Philadelphia.

Miss Edith Hamilton, 37 years old, who has been missing from her home on North Washington street since last Monday afternoon, has been found in a hospital in Philadelphia, where she was taken after being picked up unconscious on a street in that city, it was learned here today.

Miss Hamilton left home with the intention of going to Harrisburg, according to her mother, Mrs. Laura Hamilton, who said that it was her daughter's desire to return to Gettysburg not later than Wednesday morning. When no word of her daughter's whereabouts had been received here on Friday, Mrs. Hamilton became worried, and asked the police of Harrisburg and this town, to look out for her.

Sunday, said Mrs. Hamilton, she received word here that her daughter was in serious condition at a Philadelphia hospital, but was unable to find out which one. She is nearly frantic with worry, she declared, since she cannot afford to make the trip to the city in search for the girl, and neither can she discover exactly her condition. She says that she is almost certain that the girl is seriously ill, however, or she would have received some word directly from her daughter.

HOSPITAL REPORT

Miss Anna Sefton, Baltimore street, who was operated on at the Warner Hospital Saturday afternoon for appendicitis, is reported resting comfortably today. Other admissions to the hospital over the week-end were Emanuel Stambaugh, Berlin Junction; Ruth Myers, East Berlin; Stanley Rush, Hudson, this state; Miss Anastasia Clark, of Motter's Station, Maryland, and Mrs. Kathleen Weikert, of Gettysburg, who gave birth to a daughter.

JUDGE MCKENNA DIES SUDDENLY

Was Member of State Gettysburg Battlefield Memorial Commission.

FREQUENT VISITOR HERE

Active In Planning Pennsylvania Monument. Veteran of Civil War and Prominent Jurist.

Charles Francis McKenna, of Pittsburgh, a member of the Pennsylvania Gettysburg Battlefield Memorial Commission, died at his home in Pittsburgh Sunday morning after a sudden attack of heart disease. He was 77 years old. Mr. McKenna at the time of his death was judge of the county court of Allegheny county. He was a former Federal judge.

Mr. McKenna was named as one of the nine members of the commission to erect a memorial to the Civil War veterans of Pennsylvania to be located at Gettysburg. Each of these commissioners was a veteran of the war. Judge McKenna was active in planning the memorial, the largest and most impressive on the battlefield, and in carrying out the adopted plans. During the erection of the monument, he was a frequent visitor here and since that time he has inspected the memorial from time to time.

Judge McKenna abandoned his legal career for the duration of the Civil War while he served with the One Hundred and Fifty-fifth Pennsylvania Volunteers, taking part in many of the major engagements of the war. He was with his regiment at Appomattox when General Robert E. Lee, commanding the Confederate Army, surrendered. After the war he returned to Pittsburgh and, with the exception of the three years spent in Porto Rico, had made his home there since that time.

Judge McKenna had been general solicitor for the Western Pennsylvania Humane Society since its organization 40 years ago. He was solicitor for the City National and City Savings banks while they existed and (Continued on Fourth Page)

Christmas seals, with the double white cross of the National Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, were placed on sale here, and everywhere in the country today, and the proceeds from the sale of the seals will be used by the society to combat the Great White Plague.

Twenty thousand seals comprised the first shipment of seals received here by Mrs. Ella Weaver, vice-chairman and secretary of the committee in charge of the work in Adams county. Nearly all of these have been distributed to teachers, who will act as further distributors this year.

Friday, December 8, will be observed in all of the schools in the county as Tuberculosis Day, and during the drive every minister, school superintendent, and teacher will be asked to give special attention to Christmas seals and facts connected with tuberculosis.

GIRLS TO REMAIN IN FAMILIES HERE

Judge McPherson Sets Aside Writs of Habeas Corpus Asked By Parents.

LIVED AT ASPERS 7 YEARS

Ruth L. and Lula E. LaDue, Formerly of New York City, Ask to Remain With County Residents.

For the "physical, spiritual and moral well-being" of Ruth L. and Lula E. LaDue, of New York City, who for the past seven years have been living at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul F. Asper and Mr. and Mrs. Christian Pittenturf, respectively, of Aspers, President Judge D. P. McPherson, this morning, handed down an opinion setting aside the writs of habeas corpus asked for by the parents of the children and remanding the girls to the custody of the Adams county residents.

With the handing down of this opinion, another case which attracted considerable attention in Adams county has been swept from the docket of the local court.

In 1914, according to the opinion of the court, these two children, with another brother, were sent to Adams county from New York City as members of a New York fresh air fund (Continued on Fourth Page)

EDUCATION WEEK SERMON SUNDAY

Dr. Wagner Urges Improving And Enlarging of School System in This Country.

HOME IMPORTANT FACTOR

Pastor Believes Many Are Farming Out Their Responsibilities. Urges Cooperation.

National Education Week was launched in Gettysburg Sunday morning when the Rev. A. E. Wagner, of the College Lutheran Church, selected education as his sermon's theme. He urged enlarging and improving the educational system of the United States and declared that many of the failures in the past could be traced back to the home.

"The general diffusion of knowledge is indispensable in a Republic," said Dr. Wagner. "Oligarchies get along all right without intelligence, but it is never true of a Democracy, which flourishes in proportion to the knowledge of its people."

Dr. Wagner declared this principle was known to the men who founded this nation and from the first the diffusion of knowledge was vigorously sought. The speaker paid high tribute to the public schools and condemned church and privately operated institutions for the instruction of the young, declaring the public school is the greatest Americanizing influence. "It is the mainspring of Democracy," he added. "In the public schools the children of all nations and all grades and conditions of society are taught to work and play together; taught one language and to be loyal to one flag."

The public schools of the United States cost $963,000,000 in 1920, the pastor declared. It is estimated, he said, that three millions of dollars (Continued on Third Page)

Mrs. P. A. Miller, East Middle street, sustained the fracture of a bone in her right hand when the roadster in which she was a passenger with her husband and daughter, skidded from the road while descending a hill near Knoxville, Maryland, Sunday. Mr. Miller and Miss Mary Miller both suffered bruises.

According to Miss Miller, driver of the car, the road was slippery at the time and when she attempted to put on the brakes the machine skidded and ran up an embankment along side the road. The car then ran backward down the embankment and came to a halt, facing in the opposite direction. The roadster was undamaged.

CAPTAIN MILLS ARRIVES HERE

Red Cross Instructor To Give Life Saving And Swimming Methods.

Captain Fred C. Mills, of the Life Saving Corps, Washington Division of the American Red Cross, arrived in Gettysburg this morning, and immediately began to draft his plans for giving the students of the College instruction in swimming and life saving methods.

It is said that 175 students of that institution have enrolled for the work, or nearly three-fourths of the entire student body. The First Aid, and swimming instruction will be a part of the military instruction for the Sophomores, and with the other classes the work is apportioned entirely according to their skill in swimming. Those who are sufficiently advanced as swimmers can qualify for the first aid course.

Thursday night at 6:30 Captain Mills will meet the Gettysburg Fire Department and will give them a course of instruction in methods of resuscitation. It has also been proposed that members of the American Legion be present at the lecture and demonstration, which is said to include all of the latest and most approved methods known.

Captain Mills' work here will be entirely under the auspices of the Red Cross, which has been carrying on a similar work throughout the country for several years, the results of the instruction, particularly in Life Saving methods, having proven well worth while. It is said that while there were 10,000 deaths by drowning in the United States in 1914, there were only 3,000 such deaths in 1921. It is hoped that thorough dissemination of the knowledge contained in these courses will still further reduce the number.

WED 15 MONTHS AGO

Miss Pfeffer Became Bride of Student in Lancaster.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Pfeffer, Baltimore street, today announced the marriage of their daughter, Helen L. Pfeffer, to Harold P. Belknap, of Jamestown, New York. The wedding ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. McIntosh in Lancaster, September 28, 1921.

While it was known by the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Belknap that they were betrothed, the announcement of the marriage, kept secret for fifteen months, will come as a complete surprise.

Mrs. Belknap was graduated from the Gettysburg High School in the class of 1916 and for a time attended Gettysburg College.

Mr. Belknap is an ex-member of the class of 1923 at College, where he belonged to the Theta Phi fraternity. He is a soloist of note and took part in many local productions. At present he is attending Jefferson Medical School in Philadelphia. He is a member of the Phi Chi medical fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. Belknap are widely known here, where they frequently took part in social and musical events.

FIRE DESTROYS SCHOOL HOUSE

Loafers Believed Responsible For Setting Building On Fire.

Fire of unknown origin which broke out at 1 o'clock this morning, completely destroyed Bingham's school house, Franklin township. Miss Helen Kump, of Cashtown, is teacher of the school in which there were 36 students.

According to reports, the fire broke out in the front part of the building, which gives rise to the belief that the fire originated through the carelessness of persons who are known to have made the school house porch a loafing place.

The building and all the fixtures were destroyed. A holiday was declared for the students of the school today, and this evening a meeting of the residents of Franklin township will be held when plans for the erection of a new building to take the place of the burned structure will be discussed.

NOVEL WILL CASE TAKES A NEW TURN

Counsel For George Albert And Mrs. Phoebe Shelly Presents Petition Asking Judicial Approval.

According to a petition presented to the local courts this morning by William Hersh, Esq., settlement of the dispute brought by George Albert and Mrs. Phoebe Shelly, brother and sister of the late Sampson Albert, against Marie Sherk, of Carlisle, chief beneficiary under and executrix of the will of Sampson Albert, will be made outside of court. The petition as presented by Mr. Hersh did not contain certain clauses required by law, and President Judge D. P. McPherson stated that as soon as these were inserted, judicial approval would be granted. It is understood settlement will be made within the next thirty days.

WOULD MEAN TAX ON LOCAL FIRMS

Auditor General Lewis Wants Revenue From Passenger and Freight Busses.

NOT FAIR TO OTHERS

Believes Companies Using State Roads Should Be Taxed On Same Basis as Railway Concerns.

Companies and individuals operating the four motor bus lines in and out of Gettysburg will be "taxed if a plan evolved by Auditor General Lewis is incorporated in the laws of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Lewis proposes a tax on motor busses and trucks transporting freight and passengers on State highways, and hydroelectric concerns which derive their power from streams of the State as a means of partially equalizing the tax laws and providing revenues.

The Auditor General considers it unfair to compel steam railroads and electric railways to pay gross receipt taxes when busses and freight trucks are immune.

In a statement just issued Mr. Lewis says:

"My entire time during the past several months has been taken up in an effort to secure the payment into the State Treasury of all available revenues prior to the end of the fiscal year. The results of these efforts are indicated in the receipts as shown by the records. I have not, neither do I intend, to give the matter of additional revenue-raising laws any consideration whatever. I have in mind, however amendments and modifications to certain acts already on the statute books for the purpose of simplifying and making uniform the present methods, and likewise for bringing into the classes liable to tax such additional (Continued on Third Page)

ELKS HONOR DEAD WITH EXERCISES

Officers of Local Order Conduct Beautiful Memorial Service.

DR. A. E. WAGNER ORATOR

W. H. Tipton Eulogizes Departed Members, Giving Particular Attention To The Late S. M. Bushman.

Impressive and inspiring services dedicated to the sixteen deceased members of Gettysburg lodge, No. 1045, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, were held at the Lincoln Way Theatre, Sunday afternoon. Two hundred persons, members of the local lodge and their invited guests, were in attendance at the annual exercises. Surrounding Dr. Walter H. O'Neal, Exalted Ruler of the Gettysburg Elks, on the stage were the various officers of the lodge seated before flag-draped tables. In the forecenter of the stage on a stand was the head of an elk, emblematic of a portion of the insignia of the order. Raised on a drop at the rear of the stage was the familiar face of a clock, illuminated, with the hands stationary at 11 o'clock—also part of the emblem of the lodge.

At a certain point in the lodge service which was introduced, as the name of each of the sixteen departed members of the lodge was called out, a purple light, surrounding the face of the clock at the rear of the stage, was flashed on until a wreath of purple lights was completed.

Continuing with the service of the order, three of the officers in turn placed flowers before the elk head in the center of the stage, emblematic of three of the cardinal principles of Elks (Continued on Second Page)

CENTRAL AMERICANS MEET

U. S. Is A Full Participant In Conference At Washington.

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Dec. 4.—With the United States acting not only as host and sponsor, but taking the part of a full participant, the Conference of Central American Republics in the Pan-American building amid mutual expressions of confidence that the discussion would inaugurate a new era of Central American peace and stability, Secretary Hughes, the presiding officer of the conference, and head of the delegation representing the United States, welcomed the delegates of the other five nations in the name of President Harding, but did not amplify the program of the conference as already outlined in the invitations sent from Washington.

"The government of the United States," said Secretary Hughes, "has no ambition to gratify at your expense, no policies counter to your aspirations, and has no interests save to promote peace and assist you in your aims."

KLAN UP TO STATES

Federal Government Has No Jurisdiction Over Activities So Far.

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Dec. 4.—Alleged illegal acts attributed to the Ku Klux Klan fall within the police power of the several states, Attorney General Daugherty has informed Senator Walsh, Massachusetts, in reply to an inquiry, and the United States has no jurisdiction over such matters. The Department of Justice has had the conduct of the "so-called Ku Klux Klan" before it for more than a year, Mr. Daugherty said, but has not been able to find a single case which would bring the organization within the jurisdiction of the Federal government. He assured Walsh that if any such case arose, the government would proceed to prosecute vigorously the offending organization or individuals.

TIGER TO TAKE WORD TO FRANCE

Says America Will Never Forget Gratitude To His Country.

IS "MAKER OF HISTORY"

Judge Stockbridge Declares Clemenceau "Without Superior." Tiger Visits Scenes of Lafayette's Activity.

(By Associated Press)

Baltimore, Dec. 4.—Georges Clemenceau hailed by Judge Henry Stockbridge, vice president of the Maryland Historical Society, as "the most memorable figure this century has produced," declared in a brief talk here today that he was going to take this message back to France.

"Don't fear, America is in the same place. The gratitude she has to us is on such a solid foundation that it cannot be moved forever."

The Tiger of France spoke in the historical society building after he had been driven for an hour through the streets that his fellow countryman Lafayette traversed on his last visit to this city. The crowds were not dense along the route nor was there any wild acclaim save at spots where thousands of school children had gathered, notably in Mt. Vernon place about the monument to Washington. In the square there was a great waving of flags and cheering. The welcome along the rest of the route, however, was cordial. There was much hand clapping and most of the crowd stood with bared heads as Clemenceau rode by.

He was escorted by a detail of cavalry, with a mounted band from Fort Meyer. Introducing Clemenceau whom he referred to as "a maker of history without superior," Judge Stockbridge recalled that the Maryland legislature had made Lafayette and his descendants citizens of the state and informed Clemenceau that the historical society intended to propose similar action on behalf of Clemenceau when the legislature meets again.

Mayor William F. Broening then welcomed the Tiger on behalf of Baltimore and Governor Ritchie greeted him briefly on behalf of the state. When Clemenceau finished his address, a woman in the audience stepped forward and presented him a bouquet on behalf of the negroes of the city in appreciation of his defense of black troops in the controversy with Senator Hitchcock and others. From the historical society the Tiger was taken to the home of Van Leer Black, financier, for luncheon and rest. He was scheduled to leave here for Washington at 3 o'clock.

CLOSES EXTRA SESSION

With Interval of 10 Minutes, Opens New Session.

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Dec. 4.—Congress closed its 2-weeks' extra session and started its regular session today with an intervening period of only 10 minutes.

Proceedings today were largely the routine of winding up the old and beginning the new session which runs until March 3. In its brief sitting the senate formally dropped the Dyer anti-lynching bill and confirmed about 1,700 nominations, but that of Pierce Butler, of St. Paul, to be an associate justice of the superior court was blocked by objections from Senators LaFollette, Republican, Wisconsin, and Norris, Republican, Nebraska.

STOCK REPORT

Declines in Active Issues of One to Three Points.

(By Associated Press)

New York, Dec. 4.—The apparently poor quality of the buying power led professional traders to try some experimental short selling towards the end of the first hour in the stock market this morning. These offerings were not easily absorbed, encouraging operations on the short side which were extended over most of the list. The declines in active issues ranged from 1 to 3 points. Oil shares proved particularly vulnerable to selling pressure. One of the bright spots of the morning was a new high demand for sterling which touched 4.52 13/16. Call money opened at 5 per cent.

ALLIES REACH DIRECT ISSUE

Ismet, Supported by Russia, Demands Complete Control Of Straits.

ASSUMES VICTORS' ROLE

Takes Stand Against Paying Reparations For Damage Done In War. Deadline May Break up Conference.

Lausanne, Dec. 4.—M. Tchitcherine, the head of the Russian delegation, and Ismet Pasha had another long conference Sunday on the Russo-Turkish attitude toward future control of the Bosphorus, the Dardanelles and the Sea of Marmora, and this morning at 11 o'clock they will initiate their struggle in the Near Eastern Conference to upset international control of the Straits and place Turkey in absolute possession and complete control of the waterways connecting the Mediterranean and Black Sea.

Russia and Turkey are ignoring the terrible part Turkey played against the Allied Powers in the great war and are scouting all suggestions that nationalist Turkey should pay for the havoc wrought by the Sultan's forces directed by German and Austrian leaders.

Tchitcherine Behind Ismet

Ismet, encouraged by the Moscow Government, is assuming the attitude of a victor because of the crushing defeat recently administered to Greece. He is ignoring the provisions of the Sevres Treaty, negotiated with Turkey by the Allies after the great war, but never ratified, as Mustapha Kemal Pasha established a rival Turkish Government in Anatolia and declared that this treaty, signed by the Sultan's representatives, was void.

The Allied Powers and the United States have so far in the conference presented a united front in their determination not to allow Turkey to escape the consequences of the aid she rendered to Germany by the mere shuffling of its capital from Europe to Asia and the substitution of Kemal and Angora for the Sultan and his Parliament, and there is no reason to believe that they will grant Turkey's demands for absolute domination of the Straits and adjacent territory.

Tchitcherine To Attend

M. Tchitcherine has decided to attend today's session himself in spite of the failure of the inviting powers to admit Russia to the sessions where all the questions involving the proposed treaty with Turkey are considered. He will formally protest against the limitation of Russian participation in the Straits problem and is expected to discuss practically all problems which the conference is facing in an effort to prove that the control of the Straits cannot be detached from the disposition of Western Thrace, and scores of economic questions, as well as financial questions arising from the capitulations which old Russia enjoyed along with the other great powers.

TURKS WILL TRADE WITH U. S.

Greek And Armenian Middlemen To Be Eliminated.

Constantinople, Dec. 4.—Turkish business men, bankers and farmers from all over the country will hold a national conference here early in January to consider direct trade relations with the United States.

Heretofore local Greeks and Armenians have acted as middlemen for American firms, but the Turks now prefer to deal directly with American houses, avoiding commissions and other expenses.

At the conclusion of the conference a national association of business men will be formed and steps taken to establish chambers of commerce, including an American chamber.

STUDY TWO GREAT WARS

Coblentz, Dec. 4.—The manœuvres of the war of 1870 around Metz and of the World War at Verdun, along the Meuse and in the Argonne forest, will be compared by a group of 16 officers of the American forces in Germany, who, accompanied by four British officers and one French officer will leave here today in three big white scout cars to spend a week studying military tactics on the scene.

CONGRESS WINDS UP EXTRA SESSION

Abandonment of Dyer Bill Opens Way To Action On Nominations.

Washington, Dec. 4.—Confirmation of upwards of a thousand Presidential nominations will be the task of the Senate on meeting today at 10 o'clock in the final sitting of the extra session.

Unlike the House, which has no special business before it, the Senate is expected to work until close to 12 o'clock before adjourning sine die. The regular session begins at noon.

Probably the only business transacted in either the House or Senate at the initial meeting will be the routine appointment of a joint committee to go to the White House to notify the President that the last session of the Sixty-seventh Congress has convened, and that his message is awaited.

Republican Senators made possible confirmation of at least a portion of the nominations by voting in party caucus late Saturday to abandon completely the Dyer anti-lynching bill, against which the Democrats had successfully filibustered for several days.

Butler To Be Confirmed

Foremost among the nominations to be taken up is that of Pierce Butler of Minnesota to be an associate justice of the Supreme Court, succeeding William R. Day. Some opposition to confirmation of Mr. Butler has been expressed, but Senators Kellogg and Nelson of Minnesota have said they expected no great difficulty, inasmuch as the nomination received a unanimously favorable report from the Judiciary Committee after inquiry into the objections.

Hundreds of other nominations, including a large number of postmasters and Army promotions are expected to be approved by the Senate without opposition. The nomination of Walter L. Cohen, negro, of New Orleans, to be Comptroller of Customs at New Orleans is expected to fail because of the opposition of the Louisiana and several other Southern Senators.

REPORT ALL DAMS HERE ARE SAFE

Adams County One of Few In State Not Requiring Inspection.

Adams county's sixty one small dams on streams in the borders of the fruit growing county recently passed out of the scope of inspection of the State Water Supply Commission because their smallness wipes out all immediate dangers of flood menace during high waters of spring and fall.

Following a general survey of the dams recently it was determined that no further examinations were necessary, this ruling placing Adams county among the few in the State who can feel secure without inspections. On a general summary of the situation in Adams county it was shown that generally the dams are very small, many being washed out in recent years without causing any inundation to any extent and others of the larger type were found to be so situated and to contain such a small amount of water as to eradicate any danger from property loss. In every case listed the Commission reports that "failure of dam would cause no danger."

Many of the dams of the county are privately owned being used in milling and operating machine on a small scale. The larger dams are in some cases used for supplying certain communities with water, and although providing an ample supply their capacity is so small that danger of property loss and damage, should they fail, is practically extinct.

RELIEF WORKERS SAFE

Are Bringing Christian Orphans from Asia Minor.

Constantinople, Dec. 4.—Messages received Sunday at Near East Relief Headquarters by courier and wireless from the American torpedo-boat destroyers allayed the fears for the safety of the Americans engaged in the evacuation of Christian orphans from Asia Minor.

Although enduring hardships of travel on foot in the bitter cold through the snow-covered mountain passes, with convoys of children bound for the seacoasts, the American workers are reported to be in good health. They include James H. Cretcher of Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Stella Loughridge of Lincoln, Neb.; Martha Deniston of Chicago; Harold Whelan of Wallace, Idaho; George J. Williams of Foxbury, Pa., and Dr. Cyrus Zimmerman of Shafterstown, Pa.

If all the world were apple sauce,
And all the sea were ink,
And all the trees were bread and cheese,
What would we have to drink?
We'd turn the apple sauce to hooch—
And glasses then would clink!

SEES HOPE FOR SMALL NATIONS

Lord Curzon Finds Outlook Of Economic Europe Not Without Promise.

GREAT COUNTRIES HIT

Shows Opportunity For Statesmen To Bring Peace And Unity. Germany In Position.

London, Nov. 17 (By Mail).—While the recent address of Lord Curzon, Secretary for Foreign Affairs, to an audience of business men in the city dealt in large measure with the actual political situation in the Near East, the speaker also expressed some interesting ideas as to conditions on the Continent. He does not believe that the future outlook of economic Europe is one of unrelieved gloom.

Little Nations Advancing

"I see the little nations of Europe pushing forward to a greater life of international unity during the next few years," said Lord Curzon. "In the states of Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Rumania, Poland and Finland and in the Baltic States I see symptoms of life and energy, and the growth of a strong sense of national independence and power. But on the other hand, if I look at the great Powers whether they emerged triumphant from the war or whether they were broken up by the disasters that ensued, I find that they are in a position of much greater dislocation and disturbance. Take our own country. Our financial position is much stronger, with the exception of America, than any other State that took part in the war.

"But at the same time we have a burden of heavy taxation which weighs down industry and which is a burden upon every man in this country.

France Burdened And Sore

"France is weighed with a heavy debt and is sore about reparations. Germany is in a position of political instability and is deliberated by the utter collapse of her exchange. Russia is still outside the comity of nations because she cannot make up her mind to accept the conditions which render admission to that comity possible and desirable. She is still enamored of communism, and persists in pursuing her communistic propaganda in every part of the world.

"Austria was saved only by the interception of the Powers when on the verge of perishing. Italy has been concerned with more than one convulsion and change of Government.

"What an ambition it would be for the statesmen of the great powers to combine and survey this situation, to liquidate it section by section, gradually to take the various pieces of the jig-saw puzzle which are lying about and fit them in their places, and once more present a picture of a peaceful and united Europe."

dom, after which a clock struck the hour eleven.

In an address in which he praised the order for conducting annual memorial services for their departed, Rev. Dr. A. E. Wagner observed that they came to erect no granite monument, but rather to enshrine the memory of each of the dead in the hearts of the living.

W. H. Tipton delivered the eulogy for the occasion. While he paid tribute to all those who had gone before, he more particularly eulogized the late S. M. Bushman, who died since the last memorial service.

At the conclusion of the service, all members of the local lodge arose and sang a stanza of the order's song to the tune of "Auld Lang Syne." The services were closed with prayer by the Rev. Dr. T. C. Billheimer, who likewise pronounced the invocation.

During the services, a male quartet composed of Ralph Robinson, Ralph Shader, George Baublitz and David Menges, students at College, rendered a number of selections.

Preceding the exercises at the theatre, members of the lodge gathered at the Elk's home on Chambersburg street and marched to the theatre, each wearing a white carnation.

Officers of the lodge who participated in the exercises were Dr. Walter H. O'Neal, Tyson Tipton, S. Miley Miller, William Weaver, John Brehm, John Kimpke and C. L. Heilmann.

DENBY URGES NAVY 'SECOND TO NONE'

Could Be Maintained Under Limitation Treaty To Back U. S. Policies.

Merchant Marine Vital To Navy, Says Denby.

Washington, Dec. 4.—In concluding his annual report to Congress, made public Sunday, Secretary of Navy Denby spoke a word for a fully developed merchant marine, declaring it essential to the proper functioning of the Navy.

"There is perhaps no subject of more vital interest to the Navy Department," he said, "nor one to which more earnest attention is given than the re-establishment of the American merchant marine. The ability of the Navy successfully to defend the nation demands merchant auxiliaries."

Washington, Dec. 4.—A general naval policy providing for a navy "second to none" and strong enough to support American policies and commerce and guard American continental and overseas possessions, was laid down Sunday by Secretary Denby in his annual report to Congress.

Such a navy, the Secretary said, should and could be maintained within the provisions of the Naval Limitation Treaty. He added that although the present naval establishment was deficient in certain types, such as fast cruisers, aircraft cruisers, sea-going submarines and aircraft, he would make no immediate recommendation for additional appropriations because of the present financial condition of the country.

Among the accomplishments of his Department during the past year the Navy Secretary recounted "the development of aviation as an integral part of the fleet," diversion of a greater percentage of repair work to Government stations, increased steaming efficiency of battlecraft, return of the officer personnel to a permanent basis after the temporary enlargement during the war, an extension of the Navy school facilities for enlisted men, and inauguration of extensive and advance experiments in gunnery. He praised the record of the Marine Corps during the year, saying that previous high standards of the Corps had been maintained fully.

DOUGHBOYS PLAY SANTA

Coblentz, Dec. 4.—The American doughboys in the Rhineland are making up a purse of many millions of marks with which to give German youngsters a real Christmas.

The Rhineland Post of Veterans of Foreign Wars started the purse with 300,000 marks and every soldier in the American forces is giving at least the equivalent of $1, which is more than 8000 marks. Top sergeants are entrusted with the task of seeing that none of the soldiers forget to contribute.

Relief work already has begun among the German poor. A number of soup kitchens are operating, supported largely by officers, and the veterans' committee is collecting clothing and toys, which are to be distributed to the German children at the customary Christmas tree of the American forces in Germany.

GOOD CHARACTER COMES IN HANDY

George A. Emmert, York Springs, is Given Suspended Sentence In Court.

Upon his entering a plea of "nolle contendere" with the court, sentence was suspended upon George A. Emmert, of York Springs, who pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny preferred by Harry Baum, of Sunbury. The plea was entered by William Hersh, Esq., who represented Emmert. Mr. Hersh stated that the defendant admitted his guilt, but asked the leniency of the court in view of his impeccable character.

The attorney stated that Mr. Emmert had apparently been wronged by Mr. Baum, who some time ago purchased the stock of the general store run by Mr. Emmert in York Springs. In a verbal agreement, Mr. Hersh said, Mr. Baum told Mr. Emmert that he would buy the store, but would have no use for the fixtures. When the deal was finally completed, Mr. Baum wrote a receipt including in it not only the stock, but the fixtures as well, according to Mr. Hersh.

Mr. Emmert was left in charge of the store as manager. Notice was then given that he would have to vacate. In the meantime, however, believing that he had been "done" by Mr. Baum, the storekeeper removed goods to the value of $500 from the store to his residence, adjoining the store. Five hundred dollars, Mr. Hersh declared, represented the valuation of the fixtures secured by Mr. Baum by his receipt.

Mr. Emmert was arrested, and admitted the charge of larceny made against him.

Sentence was suspended upon his payment of the costs in the action, amounting to $38.56.

White Haven, Pa., Dec. 4.—The expert marksmanship of Harry Forsey, proprietor of the White Haven House, saved the life of A. F. Hartwig, of Tamaqua, when he was menaced by a large bear.

The bear weighed more than 400 pounds and was one of the largest seen around here for some time. It attacked Hartwig near Hickory Run, when Forsey, who had gone out for the opening of the deer season, shot it.

WOULD MEAN TAX ON LOCAL FIRMS

subjects as may be necessary in order to spread the tax uniformly and impartially on parties and corporations engaged in similar or competitive businesses.

"Some slight increase of revenue would no doubt result from such uniformity of treatment, as, for instance, amending the present statutes to compel hydroelectric companies to report their gross receipts to the Auditor General's office the same as other companies engaged in the business of producing and distributing electric current and requiring them to pay gross receipts tax thereon. I can see no good reason why hydroelectric companies producing their current from power secured by damming our streams and rivers should escape gross receipts taxation when electric companies whose current is produced by steam are required to pay such tax.

"Nor can I see any reason why individuals engaged in the transportation of freight and passengers over the highways of the Commonwealth, which are maintained at the expense of the Commonwealth and local communities, should not be required to report to the Auditor General's office and pay gross receipts taxes the same as the street railways and steam railroads with whom they compete. It is certainly unfair to the latter class, since they are compelled to maintain their own road beds without any appropriation or assistance from the Commonwealth; whereas the first class are, in effect, subsidized and are responsible to a certain degree, at least, for the damage and destruction of the highways which are maintained at the expense of the Commonwealth."

Bible Thought for Today

FINDING THE RIGHT WAY:—Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, call ye upon him while he is near: let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts; and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon.—Isaiah 55: 6, 1.

SHORTAGE OF TEACHERS AT END

Will Be Plenty Of Trained Instructors In 1923, Educators Say.

That there will be no recurrence of the shortage of qualified teachers in this county and others in the State, as was experienced in 1920 and to a lesser extent in 1921, is the opinion of Pennsylvania educators, who predict in 1923 there will be enough trained teachers to meet the new State standards.

According to the State Department of Public Instruction, 5,500 teachers are enrolled in the teaching courses of the normal schools, an increase of 2,000. A statement of the department says:

In view of the fact that only graduates of four-year high schools or students with an equivalent training have been admitted to Pennsylvania normal schools the past two years, while in 1919 many students were enrolled for academic work and special courses, this increase in attendance is very remarkable.

A further evidence of how interest in higher education has been stimulated during the past few years is found in the enrollment at the 47 colleges and universities in the State which carry educational courses. The total number of students now registered at these institutions is 58,500, an increase of 7,500 over the figures for 1919.

Of the total number enrolled 12,000 are registered in educational courses and of these 2,700 are in the two Philadelphia universities. Equally large numbers are reported from the central and western Pennsylvania institutions.

BIT MASHER ON CHEEK

Proved Positive Identification Mark In Court.

Detroit, Dec. 4.—One little kiss from Fanny Davis cost Stanley Pelofski, 29, ninety days in the house of correction and Stanley didn't get the kiss either.

He tried to, said Miss Davis, as she was walking along Hastings street on her way home, but Miss Davis, who is of athletic build, fought him off, and during the melee bit Stanley on the cheek, leaving positive identification and proof of the encounter for Judge Thomas M. Cotter to look at in court.

Stanley, who was meek and subdued in court, said he had no recollection of having been amorous, but he remembered he had been pretty drunk.

The ninety-day sentence was for assault and battery.

OASIS OR MIRAGE

DESERT GOLD

COPYRIGHT BY HARPER AND BROTHERS.

Thus the nights passed, endlessly long, with Gale fighting for his old order of thought, fighting the fascination of that infinite sky, and the gloomy insulating whirl of the wide shadows, fighting for belief, hope, prayer, fighting against the terrible ever-recurring idea of being lost, lost in the desert, fighting harder than any other thing the insidious, penetrating, tranquil, unfeeling self that was coming between him and his memory.

He felt he was losing the battle, losing his hold on tangible things, losing his power to stand up under this ponderous, merciless weight of desert space and silence.

At the moment he was alone on the promontory. The night was far spent.

A ghastly moon haunted the black volcanic spurs. The winds blew silently. Was he alone? No, he did not seem to be alone. The Yaqui was there. Suddenly a strange, cold sensation crept over Gale. It was new. He felt a presence. Turning, he expected to see the Indian, but instead, a slight shadow, pale, almost white, stood there, not close nor yet distant. It seemed to brighten. Then he saw a woman who resembled a girl he had seemed to know long ago. She was white-faced, golden-haired, and her lips were sweet, and her eyes were turning black. Nell! He had forgotten her. Over him flooded a torrent of memory. There was tragic woe in his sweet face. Nell was holding out her arm—she was crying aloud to him across the sand and the cactus and the lava. She was in trouble, and he had been forgetting.

That night he climbed the lava to the topmost cone, and never slipped on a ragged crust nor touched a cholla thorn. A voice had called to him. He saw Nell's eyes in the stars, in the velvet blue of sky, in the blackness of the engulfing shadows. She was with him, a slender shape, a spirit, keeping step with him, and memory was strong, sweet, beating, beautiful. Far down in the faintly golden light of the sinking moon, he saw a cloud that resembled her face. A cloud on the desert horizon! He gazed and gazed. Was that a spirit face like the one by his side? No—he did not dream.

In the hot, sultry morning Yaqui appeared at camp, after long hours of absence, and he pointed with a long, dark arm toward the west. A bank of clouds was rising above the mountain barrier.

"Rain!" he cried; and his sonorous voice rolled down the arroyo.

Those who heard him were as shipwrecked mariners at sight of a distant sail.

Dick Gale, silent, grateful to the depths of his soul, stood with arm over Blanco Sol and watched the transforming west, where clouds of wondrous size and hue piled over one another, rushing, darkening, spreading, sweeping upward toward that white and glowing sun.

"Oh! I felt a drop of rain on my face!" cried Mercedes; and, whispering the name of a saint, she kissed him. Ladd, gaunt, old, bent, looked up at the maelstrom of clouds, and he said, softly, "Shore we'll get in the horses, an' pack light, an' hit the trail, an' make night marches!"

Then up out of the gulf of the west swept a bellowing wind and a black pall and terrible flashes of lightning and thunder like the end of the world—fury, blackness, chaos, the desert storm.

CHAPTER XVII

The Whistle of a Horse.

At the ranch-house at Fortiori River Belding stood alone. He took up the gun belt from his table and with slow hands buckled it around his waist. He seemed to feel something familiar and comfortable and inspiring in the weight of the big gun against his hip. He faced the door as if to go out, but he hesitated, and then began a slow, plodding walk up and down the length of the room. Presently he halted at the table, and with reluctant hands he unbuckled the gun belt and laid it down.

The action did not have an air of finality, and Belding knew it. He had been a sheriff when the law in the West depended on a quickness of wrist; he had seen many a man lay down his gun for good and all. His own action was not final. Of late he had done the same thing many times, and this last time it seemed a little harder to do, a little more indicative of vacillation. There were reasons why Belding's gun held for him a gloomy fascination.

The Chases, those grasping and conscienceless agents of a new force in the development of the West, were bent upon Belding's ruin, and so far as his fortunes at Fortiori River were concerned, had almost accomplished it. One by one he lost points for which he contended with them. He carried into the Tucson courts the matter of the staked claims, and mining claims, and water claims, and he lost all. Following that, he lost his government position as inspector of immigration; and this fact, because of what he considered its injustice, had been a hard blow. He had been made to suffer a humiliation equally as great. It came about that he actually had to pay the Chases for water to irrigate his alfalfa fields. The never-failing spring upon his land answered for the needs of household and horses, but no more.

These matters were unfortunate for Belding, but not by any means wholly accountable for his worry and unhappiness and brooding hate. He believed Dick Gale and the rest of the party taken into the desert by the Yaqui had been killed or lost. Two months before a string of Mexican horses, riderless, saddled, starved for grass and wild for water, had come to Fortiori River. They were a part of the horses belonging to Rojas and his band. Their arrival complicated the mystery and strengthened convictions of the loss of both pursuers and pursued.

Patience, understanding, and loyalty

he laid to material loss. He had been rich and was now poor, but change of fortune such as that could not have made him unhappy. Something more somber and mysterious and sad than the loss of Dick Gale and their friends had come into the lives of his wife and Nell. He dated the time of this change back to a certain day when Mrs. Belding recognized in the elder Chase an old schoolmate and a rejected suitor. It took time for slow thinking Belding to discover anything wrong in his household, but gradually he had forced on him the fact of some secret cause for grief other than Gale's loss. He was sure of it when his wife signified her desire to make a visit to her old home back in Peoria.

A letter she had received contained news that may or may not have been authentic; but it was enough, Belding thought, to interest his wife. An old prospector had returned to Peoria, and he had told relatives of meeting Robert Burton at the Sonoyta oasis fifteen years before, and that Burton had gone into the desert never to return. To Belding this was no surprise, for he had heard that before his marriage. There appeared to have been no doubts as to the death of his wife's first husband. The singular thing was that both Nell's father and grandfather had been lost somewhere in the Sonora desert.

Belding did not oppose his wife's desire to visit her old home. He thought it would be a wholesome trip for her, and did all in his power to persuade Nell to accompany her. But Nell would not go.

It was after Mrs. Belding's departure that Belding discovered in Nell a condition of mind that amazed and distressed him. She had suddenly become strangely wretched. She would tell him nothing. But after a while, when he had thought it out, he dated this deplorable change in Nell back to a day on which he had met Nell with Radford Chase. This indefatigable worker had not in the least abandoned his suit. A slow surprise gathered upon Tom Belding when he saw that Nell, apparently, was accepting young Chase's attentions. At least, she no longer hid from him. Belding could not account for this, because he was sure Nell cordially despised the fellow. And toward the end he divined, if he did not actually know, that these Chases possessed some strange power over Nell, and were using it. That stirred a hate in Belding—a hate he had felt at the first and had manfully striven against, which now gave him over to dark brooding thoughts.

Midsummer passed, and the storms came late. But when they arrived they made up for tardiness. Belding did not remember so terrible a storm of wind and rain as that which broke the summer's drought.

The Chases had extended a main irrigation ditch down to Belding's farm, skipped the width of his ground, then had gone on down through Altar valley. They had exerted every influence to obtain right to connect these ditches by digging through his land, but Belding had remained obdurate. He refused to have any dealings with them. It was therefore with some curiosity and suspicion that he saw a gang of Mexicans once more at work upon these ditches.

At daylight next morning a tremendous blast almost threw Belding out of his bed. It cracked the adobe walls of his house and broke windows and sent pans and crockery to the floor with a crash. Belding's idea was that the store of dynamite kept by the Chases for blasting had blown up. Hurriedly getting into his clothes, he went to Nell's room to reassure her; and, telling her to have a thought for their guests, he went out to see what had happened.

EDUCATION WEEK SERMON SUNDAY

will be needed next year to erect school buildings and one billion will be needed to operate the system. At this point Dr. Wagner made comparisons with amounts spent for candy, tobacco, cosmetics and other luxuries in the United States each year. His deductions were that the amount needed by the public schools of America was not too much to ask.

"Has our system of general education produced all we might have reasonably expected from it?" the speaker asked and pointed out that 25 per cent of the men drafted in this country during the World War were illiterate. "Who is to blame?" he continued. "The primary responsibility rests on the home," Dr. Wagner declared. "The school system is next in importance. Division of responsibility and cooperation between these two agencies is needed for the advancement of education."

"Parents tell me sometimes that their children study too much in our High School. I would like to have a picture of such a boy or girl. It is not the natural thing for boys or girls to study too much."

Dr. Wagner charged that citizens are farming out their responsibilities in education. "Some of us farm out the church work," he said, "some farm out their civic responsibilities and many farm out their education responsibilities." In closing the pastor urged greater interest in the public school and the business of educating the boys and girls of Gettysburg.

DOGS FIGHT BIG PANTHER

Motorists Happen By Woods And Save Hounds.

Kane, Pa., Dec. 4.—Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Bosworth, of Buffalo, N. Y., en route from Buffalo to Du Bois, by auto, stopped here Friday and told of a thrilling adventure in the woods near Rew, eight miles from Bradford.

"We were approaching a thicket by the roadside," said Mr. Bosworth, "when our attention was attracted by snarls and barks. As our car reached the thicket we saw an immense, catlike creature battling with three dogs. They were so engrossed in their combat that they paid no attention to us."

"The panther was getting the better of the dogs, who seemed terrorized by the fierce growls of the cat, but kept rushing in. One was knocked ten feet by a sweep of the panther's paw and badly hurt. "Then I took a hand and fired five shots at the panther. I was excited and missed, but the firing scared it off into the woods."

LOST WIFE AND AUTO

Man Forgot Where He Parked Both of Them.

St. Louis, Dec. 4.—Walter Harbison, of Loogootee, Ind., who is making a cross-country tour in a motor car, reported to the police here that lax memory had caused him to lose both his wife, with whom he was traveling, and his car.

Arriving here, Harbison said he registered at a downtown hotel with his wife and then set about to find a garage for the machine. After finding the garage he said he failed to recall either the name or the address of the hotel.

After searching fruitlessly for his wife, Harbison decided to use the motor car in the hunt, but when he went to get the car he added that he forgot the name or address of the place.

He finally called upon the police.

GEORGETOWN UPSETS DOPE

Washington Eleven Defeats Lafayette In Surprise Game Of Season.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4.—Georgetown University's football team sprang one of the season's big upsets here Saturday by defeating Lafayette, conqueror of Pitt and other stalwart elevens, by the score of 13 to 7. Lafayette was a heavy pre-game favorite, it being generally figured that the Eastonian combination would win by at least two touchdowns.

Lafayette, though beaten, displayed much of the great power which it displayed in its other contests of the season, outstrutting the Georgetown team by almost four yards to one, but being the victim of a break, due to brainstorm of its quarterback, that brought about its downfall.

Marines Win

Baltimore, Dec. 4.—A terrific rushing attack, augmented by brilliant aerial play at the right time, gave the Quantico Marines a one-point victory over the Third Army Corps Area in the big interservice football battle that marked the opening of the Venable Stadium here Saturday afternoon. The score was 13 to 12.

Taxed beyond its seating capacity of 40,000, the new municipal amphitheatre was opened with the annual classic. Brief dedicatory ceremonies preceded the beginning of play. The respective team captains hoisted the Stars and Stripes to the top of the tall flagstaff, while the band played "The Star-Spangled Banner" and the vast throng stood at salute. Grouped about the flagpole with Governor Ritchie and Mayor Broening were visiting notables and the First City Troop of Philadelphia.

LARGE AMOUNT OF MACADAM

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 4.—The amount of bituminous material used by the state highway department of Pennsylvania since 1915 in the surface treatment of macadam roads would fill a steel tank 580 feet in height and 100 feet in diameter. Were a six-inch pipe line installed to transport this material from the tank, this pipe line would be filled for a distance of 4730 miles before the tank emptied.

The department since 1915 has applied 36,419,716 gallons of bituminous material. This quantity is sufficient to float a steamship of the type of La Provence, which has a registered tonnage of almost 15,000 tons.

counsel for the Catholic diocese of Pittsburgh. He was a member of the Chamber of Commerce, the Civic Club and Elks.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Virginia White McKenna, formerly of Blackensburg, Virginia, and Allegheny, whom he married in 1874.

Judge McKenna was born in the old Fourth Ward, a son of James McKenna. He was one of the first members of the Allegheny County Bar Association and a charter member of the Pennsylvania Bar Association.

In 1904 he was appointed a judge of the United States District Court of Porto Rico by President Theodore Roosevelt. This position he resigned in 1907 because of Porto Rican climatic conditions, which affected his health, and was appointed a judge of the Allegheny County Court when it was created in 1911 by Governor John Tener. He was elected to this judgeship for a term of 10 years by a 30,000 majority the following fall and was re-elected unopposed for another 10-year term in November, 1921.

cutting, and they spent the summer with the Aspers and Pittenturfs. In the fall the children returned to New York, but Ruth and Lula returned to Adams county the following spring.

In December of that year, the mother of the girls, Mrs. Robert E. LaDue, of New York, visited the home of Mr. Asper and Mr. Pittenturf and requested them to keep the children because of the excellent surroundings here and the unsatisfactory conditions of their home life in New York. The children were taken on the condition that no claim for a return to their parents would ever be made. To this stipulation the mother agreed personally, and the husband apparently acquiesced as far as the record goes. He knew of their whereabouts, never protested against the same and never contributed to their support. The father was a man of intemperate habits and the mother was a wage earner.

Living under such conditions, the children were both anaemic, undernourished and not in good physical condition when they came to this county. Since that both have grown into healthy, normal children. On February 22, 1921, Mrs. LaDue made a demand upon the defendants for the return of the children. This was refused because of the original agreement under which they were taken. The father also wrote to Mr. Asper and Mr. Pittenturf demanding the return of the children. These requests were refused and recourse was taken to the local courts to secure the release of the children by means of habeas corpus actions.

The order of the court follows in full: "After a careful consideration of the testimony taken in this case and of the facts which we feel it proves, we conclude that the physical, spiritual and moral well-being of the children would be better served by their remaining where they are than by being returned to the custody of their parents in New York City. We base this conclusion upon a comparison of the two homes and the respective surroundings of the children therein, being confident that the training, care and influences in the home of the respondents (Asper and Pittenturf) will result in the development on the part of the children of a higher and finer type of character than if returned to the parents. We have also considered in reaching this conclusion the expression of preference on the part of the children, which we believe is one of wisdom."

The children had a dread and fear of their father, based on former ill-treatment of them and because of this refused to make a visit to New York to see their parents a year or two after 1915. Both now have expressed a desire to remain in their Adams county homes in preference to returning to their parents.

CONVICT TWO OF MURDER

White Cloud, Mich., Dec. 4.—Both Mrs. Alice Dudgeon and her daughter, Mrs. Meda Hodell, stand convicted Saturday of murder, the former in connection with the death of Romie Hodell, her son-in-law, and the latter in connection with the death of David Hodell, her father-in-law. Both are to be sentenced by Judge Joseph Barton on December 11.

Mrs. Dudgeon was found guilty Saturday night. The daughter was convicted three weeks ago. Two other members of the family, Lee and Herman Dudgeon, sons of the 60-year-old woman, face charges of complicity in the death of the younger Hodell.

NOVEL WILL CASE TAKES A NEW TURN

is understood, George Albert and Mrs. Phoebe Shelly are each to receive a substantial sum. The exact figures, however, were not indicated.

Plaintiffs and the defendant, it is said, were anxious to take the matter out of the courts and come to an agreement among themselves. Such an agreement, those close to the situation declare, has been reached and all that now remains is for Miss Shenk to meet the brother and sister, who received $5 each under the terms of the Sampson Albert will, and make the payment, receiving in return a waiver of all rights and exemption from further legal courses. This will be done within a month, it is said.

This novel will case, which has been hanging fire in the local courts for almost a year, attracted state-wide attention last spring when an attempt was made to oust Marie Shenk as executrix of the will. Startling testimony was presented by witnesses and for most of the hearing the local court room was crowded to overflowing.

More than a week ago, William Hersh, Esq., of Gettysburg, who with Herman Berg, Esq., of Carlisle represents Mr. Albert and Mrs. Shelly, announced that another attempt to secure trial of the case before a jury would be made today. Arguments for and against granting the jury trial were to have been presented to the court this morning by counsel. This was not done, however.

For many years, Sampson Albert was a prominent huckster, residing near York Springs. Occasionally he attended market in Gettysburg, but was a regular huckster at the Carlisle market. While in Carlisle, he met Miss Shenk, oftentimes eating meals at the Shenk home. During the summer of 1921, Mr. Albert sustained a slight stroke and again near the middle of August suffered another from the effects of which he never recovered. He died at the Shenk home in Carlisle on September 1, 1921 and a few weeks later, his will, over which all the litigation has arisen, was filed with Horace E. Smiley, Register and Recorder for Adams county.

LAUNCH PLANES WITH AIR

Los Angeles, Dec. 4.—Compressed air force, hurling an airplane along a fifty foot trestle, giving the craft sufficient momentum to launch itself in flight, is the means by which naval engineers have obtained an efficient apparatus to send planes from the deck of a battleship, it was learned Saturday after tests Friday aboard the dreadnought Oklahoma.

The launching device is comparatively simple and takes up relatively small space. The trestle is less than five feet above the deck, a few feet wide and fifty feet long, and of steel construction. It is pivoted on a turntable and was mounted on the after deck of the U. S. S. Oklahoma.

RUNAWAY WIFE
HELD AS SLAVE

Pennsylvania Woman Causes Arrest of Man With Whom She Fleed.

Baltimore, Dec. 4.—Held a virtual slave, she declared, for nearly three years, under the domination of a man with whom she left her home in Pennsylvania, Mrs. Mary S. Stone, 36 years old, Saturday broke away from the mysterious power that held her in subjection and appealed to the police for aid. Charles Clinger, 44 years old, her alleged master, was arrested.

Mrs. Stone told the police that Clinger three years ago persuaded her to leave her home in Lewistown and come to Baltimore with him. Many times, she said, she expressed the desire to return to her husband and family but each time Clinger ordered her to remain with him.

Several times in the last month, she said, Clinger threatened to shoot her, and each time she could feel his influence, over her growing less. Friday, she says, he again threatened to shoot her, and fear gave her the strength to appeal to the police.

Saturday Clinger was taken to the police station, where he was held on the charge of violating the Mann act. Clinger is said to have a wife and three children in Norristown, Pa.

CHRISTMAS SEALS SAVE LIVES

HAPPY CHRISTMAS FOR THOUSANDS

Christmas Seals Have Big Part in Preventing Many Deaths
From Tuberculosis.

Harrisburg, Dec. 4.—Christmas Day, 1922, will be a very happy one for thousands of Pennsylvanians who have been saved from death by tuberculosis. Facts regarding this remarkable campaign against a great plague are set forth by John S. Fisher, Pennsylvania Chairman for the Christmas Seal sale, in the following:

"Approximately 6000 happy persons will sit down to Christmas dinners in Pennsylvania on December 25th, next, who would not be there if the tuberculosis death rate for this year were the same as it was in 1906.

"On the same basis the lives of 27,500 Pennsylvanians have been saved in the intervening years and many thousands more have been prevented from contracting tuberculosis. This saving of human life has been the result of a constantly growing organized effort to combat and destroy the White Plague.

"Those thousands of persons are living proof that tuberculosis can be cured and prevented.

"The citizen tuberculosis organizations which have had a part in this winning fight are financed mainly through the Christmas Seal. The Christmas Seal protects against tuberculosis. It teaches those who have the disease how to take care of themselves and not to communicate the disease to others, and teaches well people how to keep well.

"The 1922 Christmas Seal graphically expresses this thought of protection and love. It pictures a mother with a child in her arms. Beside them is the double barred cross, the emblem of the citizen tuberculosis organizations.

"A Christmas Seal costs only a penny, but helps to save lives."

SEALS SAVE LIVES

The decreasing death rate from tuberculosis is proof that the organized campaign against tuberculosis is a winning fight. An important factor in this fight is the Christmas Seal. Statistics on Pennsylvania follow:

Year	Deaths From Tuberculosis (All forms)	Rate Per 100,000
1906	10,380	159.9
1907	10,825	148.7
1908	10,211	137.8
1909	10,122	133.9
1910	10,285	132.7
1911	10,604	135.9
1912	9,572	124.8
1913	9,802	122.3
1914	10,212	125.7
1915	10,380	127.9
1916	11,068	133.1
1917	11,710	138.7
1918	12,869	153.7
1919	10,253	119
1920	9,218	105
1921	8,122	91.6

Division of Seal Funds

County tuberculosis organizations retain eighty per cent of the funds they raise from the sale of Christmas Seals for the local campaign against tuberculosis. The other twenty per cent goes for the State and National work and for committees that do not have sufficient funds for such work.

SEALS HELP SECURE COUNTY HOSPITALS

Eleven counties in Pennsylvania now have voted to establish county tuberculosis hospitals.

In 1921 seven counties favored such a hospital in referendums, as follows: Delaware, Montgomery, Lackawanna, Luzerne, Berks, Cambria and Beaver.

This fall four counties, Dauphin, Erie, Schuylkill and Westmoreland, voted in favor of such a hospital. That the residents of these counties are heartily backing this program of providing sanatorium care for the tuberculous is shown by the strong favorable vote. The count in these counties was:

County	Yes	No
Dauphin	16,910	4,875
Erie	12,914	3,825
Schuylkill	21,800	4,319
Westmoreland	15,451	5,554

Of the counties that voted for such hospitals in 1921, Berks and Lackawanna have taken over existing institutions, Luzerne, Cambria and Beaver have bought sites and are preparing to build, while Montgomery and Delaware are at work on the selection of sites.

The movement for county tuberculosis hospitals has been largely the result of a campaign carried on by the Pennsylvania Tuberculosis Society and its affiliated organizations in the counties mentioned. "These citizen organizations are financed chiefly through Christmas Seals. To the Christmas Seal, therefore, can be given much of the credit for the providing of county tuberculosis hospitals.

SEALS AID DISPENSARIES

The Pennsylvania Tuberculosis Society and its affiliated local organizations co-operate with the State Department of Health. In many places the tuberculosis committees out of their Christmas Seal funds help to maintain the tuberculosis dispensaries.

"Are you going to eat turkey on Thanksgiving day?" "No," replied Farmer Cornfossil. "One of our reasons for giving thanks is that turkeys bring so good a price we can't afford to eat 'em."—Washington Star.
